The Best Doctors in Dallas

HOW WE DID IT D Magazine's confidential poll was sent to about 6,000 local doctors in several specialties. About 2,000 of those surveyed were general practitioners, internists, and family practice physicians—those who typically make recommendations and referrals. We asked them to name two doctors they would send their patients or loved ones to in each of the 37 specialties. We also made the ballot available online at www.dmagazine.com so doctors not included in our mailing could vote. Only those with a valid Texas medical license were eligible. ■ This list is designed with the patient in mind; therefore, under the guidance of a panel of esteemed local physicians who review the list each year, we did not include specialties in which the patient has little or no say, such as anesthesiology and pathology. Nor did we include pediatric specialists, a category vast enough to warrant its own feature story (published in July 2004). We also admit that these specialties are broad in some instances. This list is extensive but by no means inclusive: if you don't see your doctor on the list, and she is someone you like and trust, you should stick with her.
